

ZERO WASTE TO NATURE THROUGH EPR

November 16-17, 2023, 9AM-12NN | Virtual event

The new Extended Producer Responsibility (EPR) Act of 2022 or RA 11898 is an amendment to RA 9003 (Solid Waste Management Act). The policy aims to enhance the current solid waste management systems through a responsibility mechanism that engages producers throughout the life cycle of their product, including its end-of-life stage. The goal is to recover plastic packaging that reaches the market and prevent it from going to landfills or nature.

This two-day virtual seminar will provide participants from the government and private sector a clear understanding of the EPR scheme, and the Waste Diversion Credit, as well as the specific roles and responsibilities of the Producer Responsibility Organization (PRO), the obliged enterprises, the certifying bodies, the waste diverters, the national government, and the local government units. It will also feature innovative technologies and procedures for recycling or converting waste to fuel or energy.

Generis Events Management in partnership with Ecowaste Management Company and Bluewater Consultancy, Training and Services is holding this virtual seminar on August 31 to September 1, 2023, from 9 am to 12 noon to allow people from across the country to participate with ease.
